

The Indiana law has removed the annoying telemarketing calls that used to come in every evening. I hope there is no dilution of the law to accommodate special interests.